

Membership List 2009-2010

Introduction

The current membership directory includes all members as of November 2009. Recently new and renewed members preceding the printing date will be included in the next list. This directory has been generated from our computerized membership database which is created from the information provided by our members. If you notice any information that is incorrect or missing please let us know so we can update our records. Some editing and rearrangement of information was necessary. We hope this has not produced any inadvertent errors. Please note that members are in alphabetical order according to business name or surname and are listed under individual first choice medium category.

Membership List 2009-2010

Membership

Julie Rosvall, Programs Coordinator

In 2007 the NSDCC moved to a new membership renewal system. Instead of all memberships being due on December 31st, now you pay yearly, in whichever month you originally joined.

You will notice that all newsletter envelopes have a renewal date noted. This is one way that members can keep track of when their NSDCC membership is up for renewal.

If you are a member who uses email you will receive a message about a month before your membership is up. You'll then receive a second reminder the week before it is due to be paid.

If you do not use email you'll receive a membership form along with your newsletter.

How else can you renew? We now have a secure payment option on the NSDCC website www.nsdcc.ns.ca/main/services

You can also print the membership form available on the website above and mail it in with a cheque, or if all else fails I'm always happy to take membership renewals over the phone with a credit card.

The NSDCC is proud to offer a variety of benefits to our membership. From online and printed newsletters, exhibitions, referrals, retail craft markets, advocacy, discounts on business services, trade initiatives, workshops, online galleries and standards jurying to name but a few. You'll find a full list on our website, and we would be pleased to provide additional information anytime.
